HAUL TRUCK OPERATORS ARE INTEGRAL TO THE SMOOTH OPERATIONS of Victoria Gold's Eagle Gold Mine as they move the mine's valuable gold-laden ore for processing. This specialized skill has many Yukoners At Work at the mine, including Robert Richards and Chase Gammel.

An avid outdoorsman, Robert made the Yukon his home in 1985 in pursuit of wilderness adventure. "Victoria's Eagle Gold Mine is a great place to work and I love working with the mine's new equipment," says Robert.

Chase, who started with Victoria at the mine in July, enjoys the challenge and learning opportunities his job provides him. "I love the Yukon's vast, untouched beauty and sharing the many outdoor activities I can do here with my young son," says Chase.

Heavy Equipment Operator Timothy Stewart grew up in the Yukon and he and his wife are raising their three children here. "In my role with Victoria Gold, I get to 'play' with big Tonka toys in a great, big sand box," says Timothy. "Shovels, loaders, dozers, graders, haul trucks and excavators. All while right here at home in the territory, which without a doubt is the best place to live and work in the world."

In her role as an ADR Operator at the mine, Monica Rydlo recovers the gold and strips it down to its final stages from which it then gets poured.

"I love my job because of the people I work with," says Monica, who started with Victoria at the Eagle Gold Mine in October. "I so appreciate the knowledge, experience and skills we all bring to the table in order to produce the very best results possible as a team at and for the mine."

Mine Training Supervisor Dennis Reghenas facilitates all Eagle Gold Mine's training materials, documentation and procedures and assists in delivering crew-specific training requirements for each of the mine's departments, functions and activities.

"My role is very rewarding as my position allows me to interact directly with Victoria Gold's employees," says Dennis, who started with the company in July. "I am loving the warmth of Yukoners and the rich history and culture of the territory."
